The elegant resort is located in the master-planned Summerlin community just a few miles northwest of The Strip and 25 minutes from McCarran International Airport.

“The JW Marriott Las Vegas is unique in that it is a spectacular golf and spa resort, providing all that Las Vegas has to offer, without the distractions of the Strip,” says General Manager Jim Rose. “The 54-acre resort is nestled among beautiful gardens and pools, with championship golf just minutes away. We also feature the 40,000-square-foot state-of-the-art Aqua Sulis Spa and fitness center. Meeting planners enjoy first-class meeting and conference facilities and easy access to recreation and leisure options. There’s also a lively casino and a wide variety of diverse dining and entertainment options right on site.”

Two six-story towers—the Spa Tower and the Palms Tower—feature 548 guestrooms including 77 suites, all with stunning views of the resort’s manicured gardens, Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area, or the glittering Strip. The secluded location appeals to guests who want to be close to the action of the Las Vegas Strip — but not too close. The JW Marriott Las Vegas also offers a welcome respite for those who just want to relax and enjoy the beauty of the Nevada desert.

Spacious well-appointed guestrooms measure 560 square feet and feature such inviting amenities as whirlpool bathtubs and separate showers with oversized brass raindrop showerheads, plush terry bathrobes and extra-large towels, the luxe Marriott bedding package, dual-line telephones for modem or fax at the desk and bed, personalized voicemail, and e-mail and guest services via the television. The oversized bathrooms are beautifully appointed in marble with upgraded fixtures. Each room also has a walk-in closet, cooler with complimentary water, coffeemaker, iron and ironing board, and a personal safe. The grand suites run up to 2,000 + square feet in size.

In addition to its luxurious accommodations, the property boasts 54 acres of immaculately landscaped gardens, waterways, and more than 3,500 trees. An 11,000-square-foot grass-edged pool with a cascading tropical waterfall and four 25-yard swimming lanes is the ultimate oasis for guests who simply want to lounge by the pool and enjoy a good book or soak up the desert sun. Private poolside cabanas provide shady retreats, which are perfect spots for enjoying a light lunch or sipping tropical libations from the Waterside Grill. There are also two 250-square-foot spa pools with handicap lifts.

After unwinding by the pool, guests can treat themselves to even more intensive rejuvenation at the resort's Aquae Sulis Spa. The 40,000-square-foot state-of-the-art facility features 36 treatment rooms where guests can enjoy massages, facials, aromatherapy, body wraps and loofah scrubs.
